De r Gary,

Th anks for the Crenshaw/Breo letters to JAMA.

As was inevitable, it resulted in JAMA having the last word and as was also inevitable, with an attack on Crenshaw, which readers will take as on all of us and what we say, rather than having to defend. against legitimate charges, that would not have been possible.

Quite some time before that, you mey remember, I suggested that those of you wh had complained to JAMA or ginally be prepared to com claim to the AMA on the appearance of NEVER AGAIN!

That would have been an entirely different controversy that could have had constructive results and have been informative to JAMA's readers if not also in the departure of ,undberg and Breo.

It can still be done, but that depends on the interest of those in a position to do it.

Thanks and best,

Jacoby
